

The Band

Strange Frequency is a band of musicians/producers that was born in 2017 in Barcelona, and whose members are Xavier García (Bass, Voice, Synth) and Sergi Marrone (Guitar, Voice, Synth). They have a very personal style, which would be worth cataloging within Indie Pop, integrating the groove of funk and electronic elements of synthpop. His songs create an atmosphere that makes his audience travel in a time machine to the '80s and come back full of overwhelming energy, with very contemporary lyrics and fresh musical ideas that lead to catchy dance songs.

The highlight of their career on their first EP, would be their single "Bahiami", and now with the new release of the single "Atracción Fatal" they're going to take the sound to the next level, where they mix electronic textures, spatial synths, solid basses, and guitars with the classic groove of funk framed in an indie concept.

Strange Frequency shows with this new single, that it can be projected as one of the most authentic Spanish indie bands today.
